

Talk Story

- Local version of story-corps interviews
- 9-12 students, local kahuna
- Liaison with Hawai'i Public Radio

Collaborating with our local public radio station, Hawaii Public Radio, students are creating a series of audio “talk-story” interviews of community elders and students, with deep investigations on interview techniques, audio recording and delivery methods. Students have created a sound proof classroom for these interviews, along the lines of the Story Corps interviews of David Isay on NPR.
